

MANDATES

The DENR is the primary government agency responsible for the conservation, management, development and proper use of the country's environment and natural resources.